

Babble & Squeak- Ukraine-Middle East

First- Dumb:

The people of Eastern Ukraine speak Russian, eat Russian food, and are members of the Russian Church, sing Russian songs, wear Russian clothes, teach their kids Russian history etc. Their culture is Russian! This has been so for thousands of years. Compared to thousands of years, current world leaders are a diddly squat, impotent flash in the pan. The Eastern Ukrainians (Russians), like the Crimeans, will play along with Putin to get whatever they they can get from him e.g. money, arms etc. (just as Franco did with Hitler, Mussolini, Churchill, Roosevelt, Stalin et al.) But if he tells them to stop doing what they are doing, they will totally ignore him just as they ignore Merkel, Obama et al. And so what anyway, Ukraine doesn't threaten us.....ISIS is the problem! Russia did NOT annex Crimea! Crimea annexed itself and, essentially, all Putin had to do was throw in a little pocket change and say welcome back. The exact same will eventually happen with eastern Ukraine because, not sometimes, but always, history repeats itself. We record and study it and do the same stupid crap over and over. If not war would have become obsolete thousands of years ago.

Second-would be smart:

When Bush senior invaded Iraq, he had enough sense to listen to his generals, stop and get out.....that worked! When Cheney (zero military service) thought he could get control of Iraq's oil (super dumb-doomed to failure), he led puppet, George junior by the nose, at a time when the Middle East did NOT want us there. This idiocy enabled the creation of things like ISIS! Now that ISIS has alienated itself from most of the Islamic world (23.4%-world population), they (majority-Middle Eastern governments) want us there! Now, we and Europe etc. (international coalition), could go in with a full blown, conventional, D-Day style invasion force, be welcomed (bases provided).....and quickly obliterate ISIS.

Military people say that if there was a serious will to crush ISIS, the military machine of the international coalition would be able to finish the job within weeks and months rather than years
Raghida Dergham

Stop making us, ultimately, look as foolish as George junior by wasting time, money and lives, trying to prevent the inevitable outcome in Ukraine, and put all this to work where it's needed AND will work.....the Middle East!

Washington.....get your damned priorities right!

As for ISIS, al Qaeda and all that idiocy, if world leaders ever figure out the difference between their mouths and their anuses, instead of starting a new cold war, this is what could/should happen:

When Hitler threatened the world, most of it united against him and eventually, Russia from the east and D-Day from the west. An invasion force composed of an alliance of all threatened (including Middle Eastern countries) by these thugs would be assembled before they're allowed to become as powerful as the Third Reich. Such a force could easily obliterate (permanently) this pile of crap within a few months!

Note: I'm going to put this on Facebook but it always screws up stuff like this. I'll also send it to Washington but even I mattered, this wouldn't since they can't find their butts with both hands, standing naked in a room full of mirrors.

If I'm still alive then, I'll mention this prediction again in about five years.
